

CANALYST TO SPONSOR SIDOTI & COMPANY LLC SPRING 2019 CONFERENCE

PRESS RELEASE

MARCH 26, 2019 – NEW YORK, NY — Analyst, an equity research technology provider for institutional finance professionals, is proud to announce its sponsorship of the Sidoti & Company, LLC Spring Investor Conference at the New York City Marriott Marquis on Thursday, March 28, 2019.

The event brings together leading institutional investors and management of nearly 200 small and micro-cap companies through a day of informative presentations, networking breaks, and one-on-one meetings with CEOs and other top executives.

“Analyst was born out of a need to increase access to institutional-quality fundamental models on under-covered equities,” said Damir Hot, CEO of Analyst, who sees his firm’s models fostering in-depth discussion at the Sidoti Conference among small and micro-cap investors. “Today our platform includes 4000+ models across all market caps, and the efficiencies our technology affords Analyst clients – from startup funds to the world’s largest asset managers—provide a consistent competitive advantage.”

Peter Rabover, founder and managing director of Artko Capital—an investment partnership focused on small, micro-cap, and special situation securities—agrees. “Analyst is a huge leverage on my time,” shares Peter. “I can pull up a name and everything I want is there in the model so I can begin my work immediately. It’s like having my very own junior analyst in the cloud. Analyst took over the task of building Excel forecasting models and made them an exciting part of my research process.”

As a sponsor of the Sidoti & Company Spring 2019 Conference, Analyst will have a booth to present its platform and will provide fundamental models on the presenting companies.
